MUSIC LEAD

I believe music is more than just sound; its an art with rhythm, tune, emotion, and meaning. Music has moved on from being a small part of my life to a passion. The first thing that comes to my mind when I think of why I'm passionate about music is; music is relaxing to me. It takes me to a whole new world where there are no worries or deadlines. It has opened many doors for me and brought me a sense of joy and peace. Music has supported me to face difficult situation in my life as well as help me to motivate myself. I love playing music while driving to places. Some music does resemble the journey of my life.

One of the greatest pleasures as a music lead is watching my student's become musicians in their own right. Then they can experience the joy of music making for themselves. Music education is vital to a well-rounded learning experience. I truly believe in music and the power of the imagination to unlock potential in our lives. From a very young age all babies are born with innate musical ability and that musical communication can contribute to our multiple forms of language. It offers musical, playful approaches which support speech, language, and communication needs. Also, with a huge focus on the children's mental health, lots of classes have utilised music within the classroom. It has been used for quiet time to aid concentration, musical interventions as well as meditation time.
